SPECIAL SERVICE!

Reliable Telegraphic News From Campaign Headquarters.

Special to Public Ledger.

CHICAGO, October 20th.

With increased vigor the closing fight in the campaign was entered upon at the Republican National Headquarters today.

The leaders were very much encouraged by telegrams from almost every section of the country, confirming their estimates of 800 electoral votes certain for McKinley and Hobart, given to the public through yesterday's morning newspapers.

A number of telegrams have been received from states that were heretofore regarded as somewhat doubtful, assuring the Committee of their electoral votes.

Every element of doubt that might have entered into the tabulated statement making up the 303 electoral votes was eliminated by the telegrams and assurances received.

The reports indicated in every instance great encouragement, renewed efforts and splendid progress.

The reports from the Pacific slope states were especially gratifying. They showed that rapid gains had been made since the speakers sent out by the Republican National Committee invaded the field.

Reports from states South of the Ohio river, which have formerly given their votes to the Democratic National ticket, are equally encouraging, and assure McKinley and Hobart the electoral votes of West Virginia, Kentucky and probably North Carolina and Tennessee, with more than an even chance in Missouri.

There is great activity today among Illinois Republicans and Sound Money Democrats in preparation for Illinois day at Canton. All indications point to an enormous outpouring of people from this state on Wednesday. One especially interesting feature is the large proportion of Democrats who will be there.

Reports received today from Western and Southern states indicate great dissatisfaction among the Populists from the treatment that has been accorded Thomas Watson in requesting his retirement from the National Populist ticket. There is evidence that the genuine Populist will now support McKinley and Hobart.

Reports have also been received from Central and some Southern states indicating an increased determination on the part of Sound Money Democrats to secure the defeat of Bryan, and their column is steadily growing in volume and activity.

Something of a sensation was created at the Republican National Headquarters this afternoon by the receipt of a publication now being circulated in pamphlet form as from "The South Omaha (Neb.) Daily Sun October 1st and 8d, 1896," which supports Bryan and Sewall, viciously attacking the individual members of General Alger's party of old soldiers. The article refers to the Generals as "a carload of old bummer's" called Generals new touring the country at the expense of Hanna, telling the people how to vote, designating them as "Sknks" and "Those hired pupes styling themselves Generals" who have sold every atom of manhood they ever did possess, and again as "Simply a lot of old second-hand run-down-at-the-heels Generals living off the people," etc.

Information has been received that through the West another article is being circulated in the form of a letter written by Samuel T. Preseley of Boston, alleging that Mr. Hanna stated to him that if McKinley is elected the standing army will be increased about 300,000 men; that strikes and riots will be suppressed by force of arms, and that labor will be regulated by the bayonet.

Chairman Hanna desounces these as false in every respect.

The "Grip of Gold" accredited to The London Financial News, which has been proved to be a forgery; for the letter to R. C. Bell of Fort Wayne, Ind., already denounced by him as a "fake," and the repeated assertions that employers are coercing employees are again being pushed to the front by the Bryan mangers as a last resort to array the laborers against employers.

Republicans here are greatly encouraged over today's Registration in Chicago. It shows that every Sound Money Democrat will vote against Bryan.

Democrats at Illinois State Headquarters privately conceded the helplessness of their campaign, and have practically quit work. They will turn their attention to Michigan and Indiana. They have sent their Chief of Speaker's Bureau to Michigan to manage the oratorical campaign in the saddle. The first day's experience has been decidedly discouraging. Telegrams indicate that Ex-President Harrison's stumping tour, begun with increased vigor the closing fight in the campaign was entered upon at the Republican National Headquarters today.

You Have

An old-fashioned key-winding watch that belonged to your father--perhaps your grandfather--and would like to wear it but for the annoyance of searching for a key every time you want to wind it.

I can reconstruct it so that you can preserve the old watch with all its associations and at the same time enjoy the use of a modern stem-winding watch.

"I believe that it is a good deal better to open up the Mint of the United States to the minting of American gold than to open up the Mints of the United States to the silver of the world."—WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

At the Frankfort Penitentiary a day or so since THOMAS CLOUT, a three-year man from Monroe county, became violently insane and had to be forced into the Hospital by a heavy detail of guards. He imagines that he has been ordered by the Silver National Democratic Committee to go on the stump for BRYAN and silver in Mississippi and Louisiana and attempted to force his way out of the Pen in order to go on his mission. The authorities should let him join the other silver crazy orators on the outside, by all means.

The Editor of The Bulletin is constantly "prating" about people who were for Free-silver years ago, when silver dollars contained 94 cents worth of silver, but who are now opposed to Free-silver because silver dollars contain only 33 cents worth of silver. Wonder why BRYAN doesn't print the names of some of those fellows who are now such rampant Free-silverites, but who were bowling Goldbongs just three months ago? He might head the list with "M. F. MARSH, Editor, of The Bulletin," by way of a star.

The hard-pax bed-rock facts as ascertained by a canvas of Illinois, in the interest of truth and not merely to inspire political confidence, shows that in the city of Chicago MCKINLEY will receive 75 per cent. of the vote east in that city next November. It is now estimated as reasonably certain that the city of Chicago will give MCKINLEY a majority of from 50,000 to 70,000. He will come to Chicago with a majority of not less than 25,000. So then it is not unreasonable to predict that MCKINLEY's majority in the state may reach 100,000. In commenting on this condition in Illinois, that conservative and careful independent journal, The Philadelphia Times, says:

"The experience in Illinois is the same as the experience of those who have investigated the actual political situation in every other section of the country. The extravagant claims made by the Populists have misled many into the belief that there was a tidal wave in favor of Free-silver and cheap money, and many have inclined to follow it because it promises some; but whatever honest and intelligent participation has been made the people are found to be honest to the core; and today everything points to a general sweep of the country in favor of MCKINLEY and the 'Integrity and Honor of the Nation,' such as has been overshadowed by the elections of Vermont, Maine, and Connecticut. Bedrock inquiry has exploded the Populist bubble, and the people of the Nation are now certain to be true to themselves, true to their homes' and true to the great Republic of the world."

A gold standard encourages the hoarding of money because money is rising; it also discourages enterprise and paralyzes industry.—Bryan's Madison Square Garden Speech.

The U. S. Census reports show that in 1870, before the passage of the act which Mr. Bryan says established the gold standard, the number of manufacturing establishments in the United States was 253,148, employing 2,053,996, paying them $75,584,343 annually, and turning out $4,232,225,442 worth of products annually. By 1880 the number of hands employed had increased over 700,000, the wages had increased to nearly a billion dollars, and the value of the product increased over a billion. In 1890 the number of hands employed was 4,712,622, or more than double that reported by the last census under free coinage; the wages $2,283,216,529, three times that in 1870 under free coinage, and the value of the product $9,372,437,283, or more than double that reported in 1870. Does this look as though the gold standard had "discouraged enterprise and paralyzed industry?" Here are the figures for 1870, 1880, and 1890 in tabular form. Ask Mr. Bryan or any other free silver man how he accounts for them if the gold standard has "discouraged enterprise and paralyzed industry."

	Manufactures.	Persons.	Wages.	Value of Products.
1870....	250,148	9,053,976	$76,584,343	$4,232,225,442
1880....	253,852	9,738,595	$947,053,705	$5,869,579,101
1890....	355,418	4,712,622	$2,283,216,529	$9,372,437,283

[The figures for 1870 are based upon the paper currency basis of that date, and if reduced to the gold basis upon which the latter statements are made, the contrasts would be even more striking.]

The Ledger's Leaflets—No. 29.

If the influences which are at work for the destruction of silver as a standard money succeed in this direction, those same influences will be turned against the weaker nations, and nation after nation will be turned from the use of silver.—Bryan's Toledo Speech.

Is it not rather absurd to assume that any given set of "influences" or organization of men could have secretly and viciously induced the law-making powers of the most intelligent nations of the earth to do an unwise thing in such a short period? Is it possible that a handful of men could have compelled the intelligent law-makers of such nations as the United States, France, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Turkey, Austro-Hungary, Belgium and the English colonies all over the world, to commit financial harakiri, all within a comparatively few years? If a few men had been attempting a plan of this sort which was really bad, would they not have begun on what Mr. Bryan terms the "weaker nations," which would be more easily influenced rather than to have begun with the strongest and most intelligent? How can a syndicate, a few dozen or a few hundred at the most have been able so to deceive 350,000,000 of the most intelligent people of the globe within a few years' time as to lead them to do an unwise thing in regard to the subject uppermost in the minds of all men and all nations, that of business prosperity?

The advocates of the gold standard have never dared to submit that standard to the arbitrament of the ballot.—Bryan's Columbus Speech.

There have been twelve national elections for members of Congress since the act which dropped the silver coin of the United States was offered in Congress. In every one of these the people have had opportunity to exercise the "arbitrament of the ballot" upon this question; and they have never elected a majority of a Congress in favor of reversing that act.

A complaint has been made to the Civil Service Commission that the silver Democratic State Committee of New York has made an attempt to collect campaign funds from Custom-house employees.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its consequences, the happiness of the home, the happiness of the nerves of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. ## A STRONG TIDE

Carries the Steamer Arago Onto Submerged Rocks.

Vessel Wrecked and Four Passengers and Nine Sailors Drowned.

The Arago Was Endeavoring to Enter the Harbor at Empire City, Ore., at the Time of the Accident—She Lies in Eight Fathoms of Water.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Oct. 21.—The Oregon Coal and Navigation Co.'s steamer, the Arago, Capt. Reed, was wrecked Tuesday morning in eight fathoms of water. She has four passengers and nine members of the crew were drowned.

Those who perished are: John Norman, of Marshfield, Ore., cabin master; Capt. A. McLean, first officer; E. M. McGraw, steersman; Walter E. Brown, chief engineer; Richard Peterson, chief steward; Francisco Fernandez, chief cook; William Whittle, A. C. McLean, fireman; Fremen J. Kinn, Harry Bander, etc.

The saved, so far known are: Capt. A. Reed, master; A. Painter, R. H. Rose, H. Brown, Spauls, Martin, Ross Bergmann, McKipping, seamen; J. Moore, fireman, White, firemen; P. Busel, second cook; Bargat, Holden Waters.

Among the missing are: C. E. McIvins, purser; E. W. Arner, first officer; J. D. Clegg, second officer; F. Croghan, first assistant engineer; P. Friel, second assistant engineer.

It is not known how many passengers were aboard the vessel at the time of the wreck.

The Arago was the first steel ship ever built by the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco. She was 94 tons gross, 200 feet long, 30 feet beam and 16 feet deep.

This vessel was endeavoring to enter the harbor at Empire City, and the engines were slowed down while the har-was being crossed. A strong tide rip-carried the vessel on the submerged rocks of the partially constructed government dam. The vessel struck the rock, which was knocked in her bottom directly under the engine room and a few seconds later the vessel sank in eight fathoms of water. The deck was broken and upper works were completely awed and were also life rafts and boats.

In the midst of confusion the passengers and crew clung to whatever debris they could reach. The boats were capsized and into these was perched, clinging to the rigging, which was still above water. For two hours the boat was driven by the waves through the breakers. A number of men capsized one of them and all of its nine occupants were drowned. The other boat was finally plowed safely into the sand bar by the receding crew members. When the boat had been hoisted up, the crew had to be rescued. The board of the board, Col. Ells, believed that the Turkish aerodites have nothing to do with the coming of these Armenians, except as ordinary refugees following the massacres as explanation.

Col. Holland, of the Salvage arm, on the other hand, says they were all fleeing from the massacres.

GIGANTIC CORNER.

Western Syndicate Representing More Than $150,000,000. Frictionless Control.

N.Y. Oct. 21.—The most gigantic speculation ever attempted in this country is now under way. It far surpasses all past deals of the same character. In comparison the famous bank of Cincinnati, and the president of that banking institution, E. L. Harper, to the penitentiary was a mere attempt at a job lot sale.

Our syndicate did the general public of Wall street and other financial centers awake to the fact that practically the whole wheat product of the United States had been cornered by a wheat syndicate representing more than $150,000,000.

So well and secretly had these manipulators worked that it was discovered only so recently as Tuesday that the greatest of the nation's electors of wheat there is no man or corporation in control of this millionnaire pool, wheat worth $100,000,000.

The exercises were conducted by Prof. DeWitt, dean of Yale Divinity school, Prof. DeWitt, of the Princeton Theological Seminary, and President Patton.

Hon. Charles E. Greed, LL. D., president of the exercises, with a brief historical review of the institution since the granting of its charter. He then introduced Rev. Howard Duffield, '73, pastor of the old First Presbyterian church, New York city, who delivered some of the words of welcome to the visiting delegates.

Dr. Green then introduced President Elliott, of Harvard, who replied in behalf of American universities and learned societies. In the course of his remarks he said:

"The universities and learned societies of the United States congratulate Princeton university on the grounds of mutual support and affection of the university and the people.

They also felicitate the university that at great religious denomination, the Presbyterian church, a church which has rendered invaluable service to the cause of civil liberty as well as to the religious cause.

They rejoice that this relationship is firm and close to-day, and that Princeton university maintains from year to year its habitual contribution to the ministry of education, always among the most distinguished.

They are excited that they may not become a public charge."

Prof. Joseph John Thompson, of the University of Cambridge, replied in a short speech, representing on behalf of the European universities.

The next hour was devoted to the reading of fifty-six college which had sent addresses of congratulation to the university.

Among the distinguished guests who occupied positions on the platform were President Adams, Gen. Francis Walker, Prof. George M. Williams, a citizen to technology, Prof. Conard, of the University of Berlin, Germany; Prof. Mersman, Desarrows of Paris; Capt. White, of Annapolis; Capt. G. W. Gilmore, of New York; President Gilman, of Johns Hopkins; President Seth Low, of Columbia; President Fisher, dean of Yale divinity; Prof. Dowden, of Trinity college, Dublin, Ireland; Prof. of the University of Tech. Hollis, of Boston; Prof. Seth, of Cornell university; Prof. Brown, of Yale; Prof. Harkness, of Brown; President Angell, of the University of Michigan, and President Harper, of Columbia.

Following the exercises in Alexander Hall the trustees and faculty received the guests in the Chancellor's Library. The central space of the library had been cleaned and on either side of the room were framed addresses of congratulation which had been received from over fifty universities. Many of them were works of art,engraving, brilliant illustrations, and some were written in imitation of the style of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth centuries. Among the finest were those sent by the universities of Rome and of Bologna.

The platform was covered with a green cloth and a large mural painting of the Senate chamber under the direction of Mr. Walter Damrosch took place in Alexander Hall.

The tunnel will come to the surface at Ann street and Park Row, New York, and the junction of Willoughby, Ann and Court streets (near the city hall), Brooklyn.

The engineers say that the tunnel, on the plan outlined, can be constructed with a comparatively short time.

The capital stock of the company is $1,000,000, and it is proposed to issue $90,000,000 of bonds.

The project is said to have been approved by Mayor Strong, of New York, and to be favorably regarded by the board of aldermen of this city. It is now sought to obtain the sanction of the Brooklyn city government.

PITCHED BATTLE

Engaged When Forces Caught in Altered Fighting—Two Wounded.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 21.—Ex-Sheriff J. J. Cooper, headed by himself and Constable John Everette, several days ago started in pursuit of a man named Brock, who Collins thought had burnt the sheep barn at Rock Castle two weeks ago. He ran to the mountain fastnesses on Tug river, near the West Virginia line, and thither the pursuing party followed. They caught up with Brock, but the law had rallied around him and pitched battle with Winchesters enroute. Brock was wounded three times and finally captured. The party then marched to town, where he was tried and sentenced to a year and a day.
